Mission

Informality is a slow media publication that focuses on empowering and growing the base of arts writers in Kansas City.

We focus on documenting the conversation that exists in the Kansas City arts community. Our function is to be a catalyst encouraging contributions from a wide range of perspectives in the community. Remaining informal and informative, our goal is to be radically critical through what we publish and the programming we create.

Our editorial staff focuses on growing new voices. Please send pitches to editor@informalityblog.com.
